We, the high school students of today, shall build the world of tomorrow—be it peaceful or struggling, tranquil or troubled. We are the pillars of the future.

CLEVELAND HEIGHTS, OHIO

HOME, SCHOOL AND CHURCH PROVIDE THE FOUNDATION

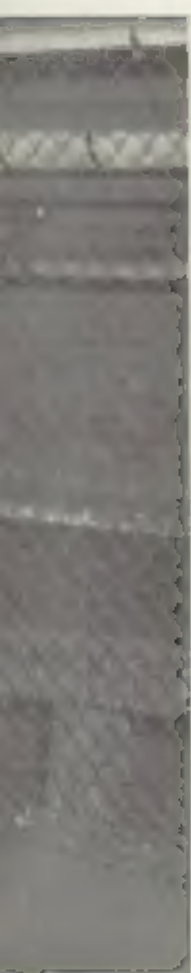

Basketball game . . . Rifle Club practice . . . Senior Prom . . . rush home to study . . . go to church . . . meeting at Heights House . . . this is the tempo of student life.

In the time between,
After childhood and before we are adults,
There comes a pause,
A moment during which we are old enough to change—
To take a different path,
And young enough to understand,
To know that we must decide.
We spend this moment in work and play,
Doing some things we are told to do,
And some things we want to do.
Although we know it not,
We spend this moment in Building—
Laying the foundation that the remainder of our lives
Will rest upon.
We spend this moment in what seems to be
Aimless, undecided wandering.
Suddenly, from out of
This wandering
Comes a decision;
The moment ends,
And we are no longer
In the time between.

ON WHICH THE REMAINDER OF OUR LIVES WILL REST

A building—bricks, mortar, and plaster—constructed by architects, contractors, and laborers stands—a reminder of the genius of men—waiting for students to enter.

When students enter this door, the architectural structure becomes a school—a place of learning, development, and activity—a contribution to the future.

COOPERATIVE PLANNING BUILDS DEMOCRACY

Leadership is basic; a people without a government would be lost. The people of the community through their voice, the School Board, have placed the government of Heights High School in the hands of the faculty, led by Principal Donald Roe. In order to help the school function more smoothly, student and class councils are organized, which with the guidance of the faculty help plan extra-curricular activities and act as the voice of the student body. The faculty and students, working together effectively with the community, make a strong, healthy school—a place for school citizens of today to prepare to be citizens of the community of tomorrow.

HEIGHTS HIGH SCHOOL.....

EQUIPPED TO HELP STUDENTS

Heights High School, located at the corner of Cedar and Lee Roads, serves 1915 students daily, with 79 faculty members and 26 other employees. The school is equipped to offer each of these students over 130 courses of study. Besides the conventional classrooms, facilities of industrial arts' shops, science laboratories, home economics rooms, art rooms, a radio studio, a little theater, and a library permit students to pursue both academic and vocational interests. Using the equipment in these rooms gives students experience in using their hands, as well as their minds. In this building students gain understanding and skill in the use of the basic tools of learning as the foundation of the desire for further education.

LAY FIRM FOUNDATIONS FOR THE FUTURE

CONTENTS

ADMINISTRATION

Training and guidance given to today's high school students will provide citizens of tomorrow with the experience and knowledge necessary in our complex civilization. . . 9

SENIORS

After twelve years of training in public schools, these students leave with the background and experience in living that will prove increasingly more useful 23

UNDERCLASS

During three years at Heights, students are given the chance to plan studies and activities that will best help them in the future. 69

SPORTS

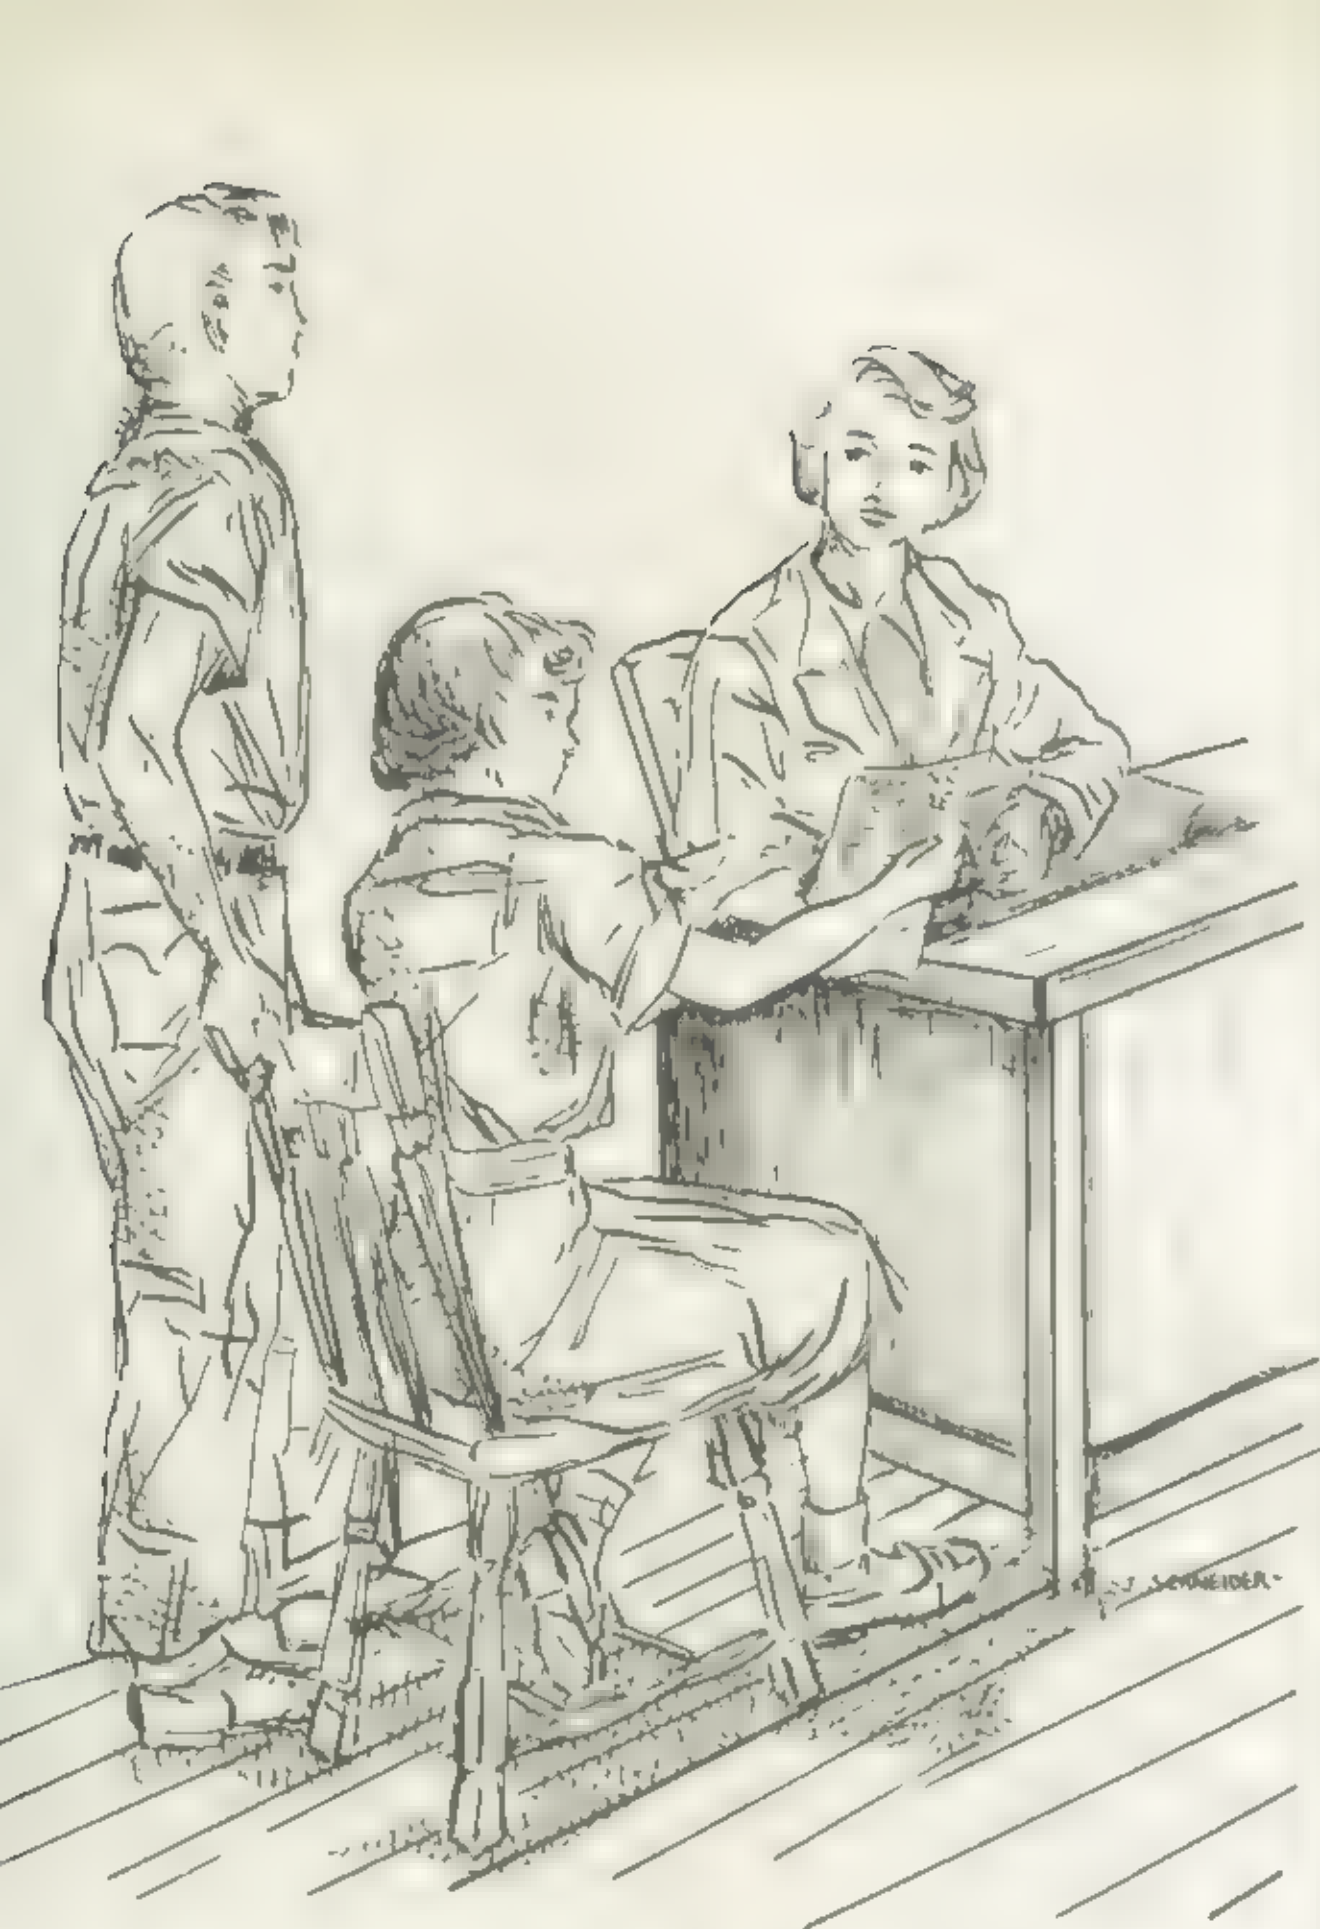

Healthy bodies, along with a sense of fair play and team spirit, are vital components of every citizen in a democracy. 87

ACTIVITIES

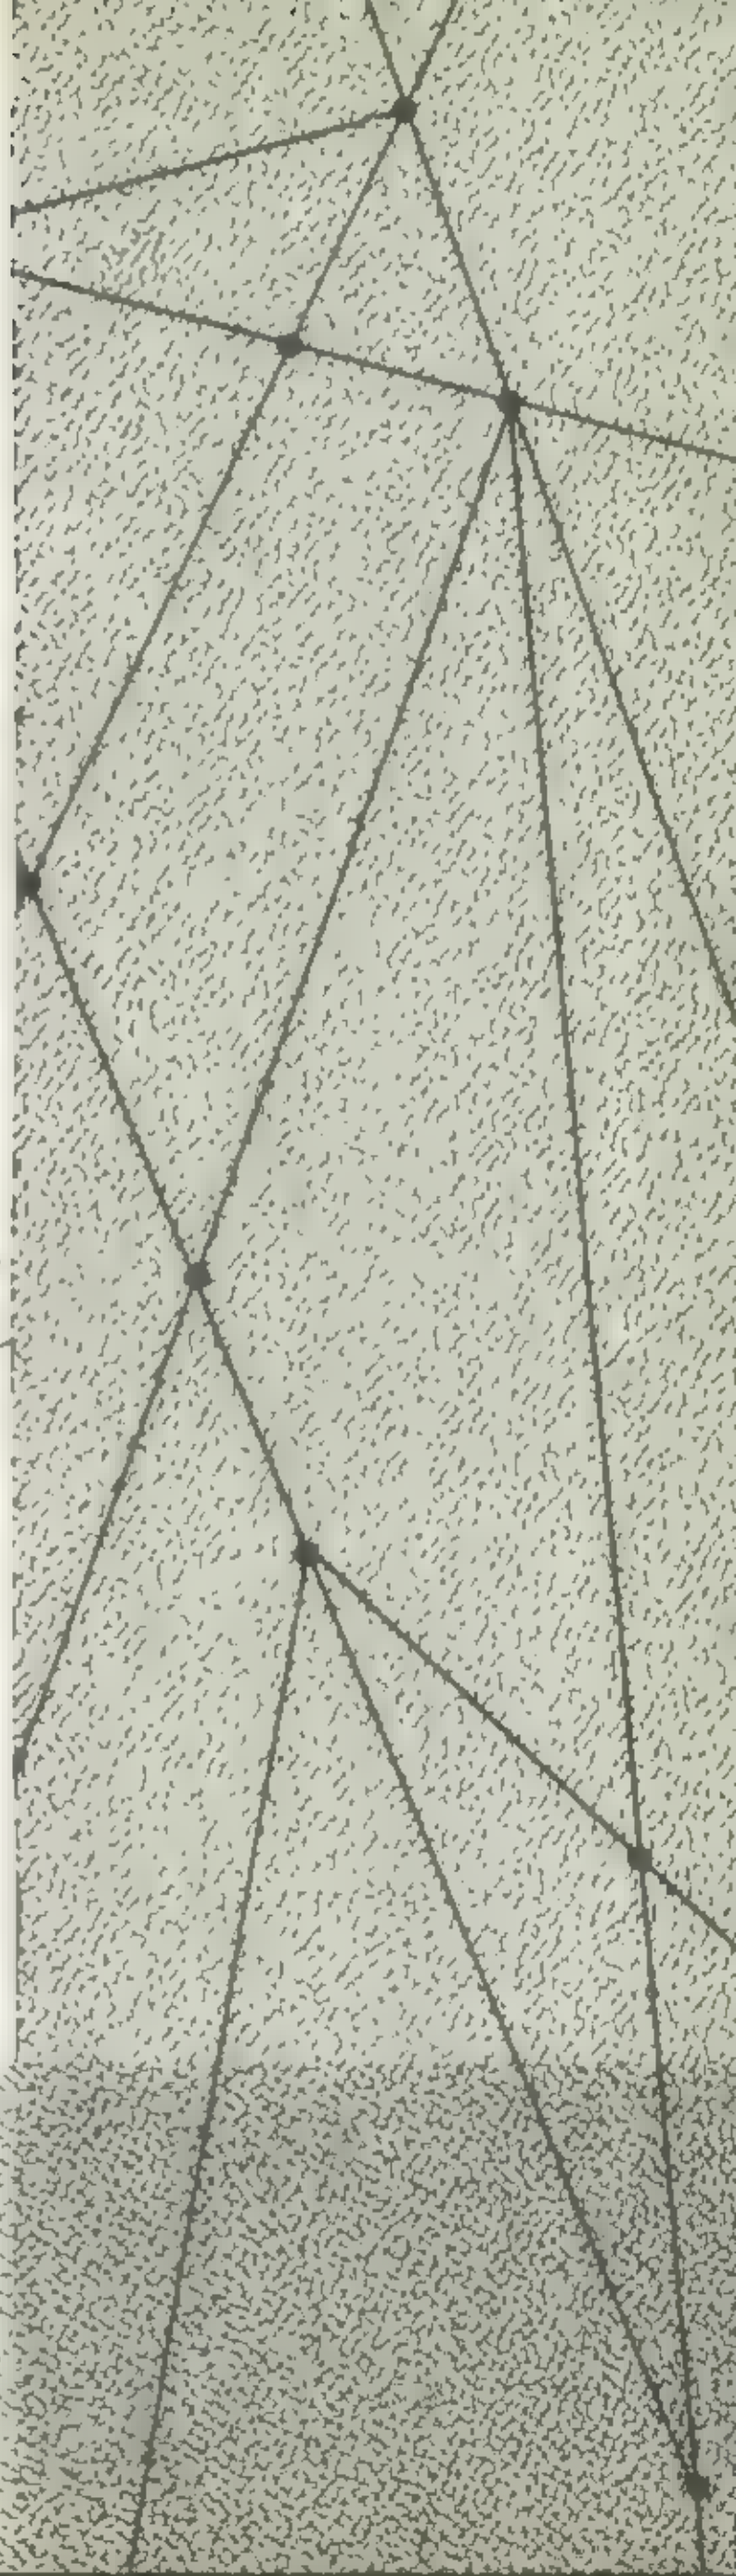

Happiness in the future will not only depend on our work but also on the way that we spend our free time. 109

INDEX

When we look back at our stay in Heights, the Caldron will help to recall our most delightful memories. 146

English in Cleveland Heights High School provides opportunities for training and growth in the language skills—speaking and writing, reading and listening. The numerous courses in the English curriculum are designed to promote competency in self-expression in the communicative arts. They provide for every pupil concrete experiences in speaking, in listening, in reading, in writing, and in thinking. Important to every student are the development of human relationships and an appreciation of standards of taste, which are the fundamentals of every English course. Although English is a required subject, there are diversified courses to meet the needs of each student.

FINE ARTS

Practical arts courses administer to the needs of students who prefer manual to academic activities. These courses teach muscular coordination and an understanding of the basic machines needed for industry.

Fine arts courses provide the satisfaction of self-expression in form and sound pleasing to the senses. Providing activities which may later lead to professional use, they challenge students' interest and stimulate pride in fine accomplishments.

Mathematics teaches pupils orderly arrangement of facts needed to solve a problem, along with the basic understanding essential to advanced work in science, industry, philosophy, and mathematics.

George Strickling

Art students, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Bulkley, learn the satisfaction of personal pride in a job well done.

Mrs. Ethel Magee is instructing her pupils in the basic fundamentals of using the typewriter.

The science, hygiene, and commercial departments give a student instruction in fields of study which will be of great value to him in the future. By learning the basic physical, chemical, and biological concepts of the universe, the pupil receives a basic foundation for understanding the atomic age he lives in. He becomes familiar with the scientific method of proving the verity of a statement before accepting it.

In hygiene students not only become acquainted with the principles of healthful living but also learn how to handle many social problems that may confront them in later life.

Commercial subjects, such as typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping, are of immediate use to a graduating student, both as a timesaver in college and as recommendation for a commercial job.

HISTORY

Bernard Zweig

Actually looking up the many places studied in history on a globe or map helps the student feel closer to the country he is studying. Here Janet Eger, Carl Prohaska, Shelly Duber, Kathryn Frakes, and Barbara Blair, along with Mr. Irl Fast, search for one of these far-off regions.

In American and World History classes students acquire the vital information necessary for a basic understanding of today's problems and their solutions in the future. Courses such as Social Problems further develop the student's understanding of the world he lives in.

As methods of transportation become faster and cheaper, the world grows smaller. A knowledge of foreign languages better prepares one for a well adjusted life in this world.

Since a healthy people make a healthy nation, physical education is an important factor in the life of every student. It builds poise, develops physical co-ordination, maintains health, and teaches sportsmanship.

Center—New faculty members Miss Ella DeRosa and Mr. Paul Wisely, meet Mrs. Patricia Coppedge and Mrs. Barbara Walter, new to the library staff this year.

Bottom Left—Recording units are valuable aids in teaching communication. Here Mr. Leonard Freymann gives some pointers on their use.

Bottom Center—Mrs. Barbara Walter, Mrs. Patricia Coppedge, and Mrs. Betty Eliot form a trio of librarians helpful to students throughout the year.

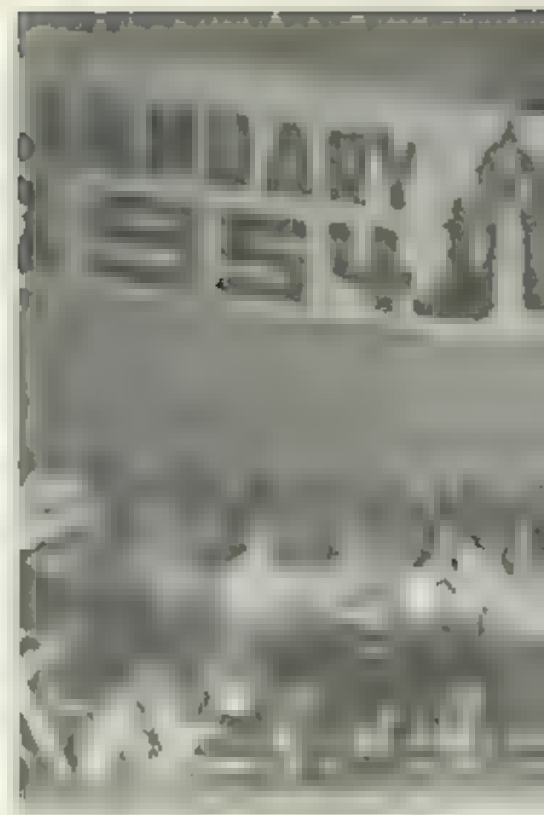

Upper Left Approximately two hundred pupils use the library daily during the regular school periods while many others go there after school.

Center The office staff plays an important part in the efficient functioning of the school.

Commencement is a beautiful event, marked by several cherished traditions. The girls wear white caps and gowns and carry red flowers. The boys' dark blue gowns provide an effective contrast.

Another tradition in the commencement ceremony is the presentation of the presidential mantle. At every graduation exercise the out-going class president presents this emblem to the leader of the in-coming class

Intermission at the All "Winter Whirl" finds January seniors and their dates relaxing between dances. The Social Room was the setting for this holiday dance. Preparing to have their admission tickets stamped on their hands, June seniors and guests enter the festivities of the All-Holly Hop.

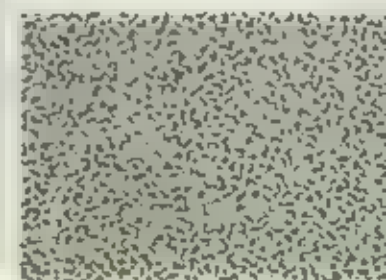

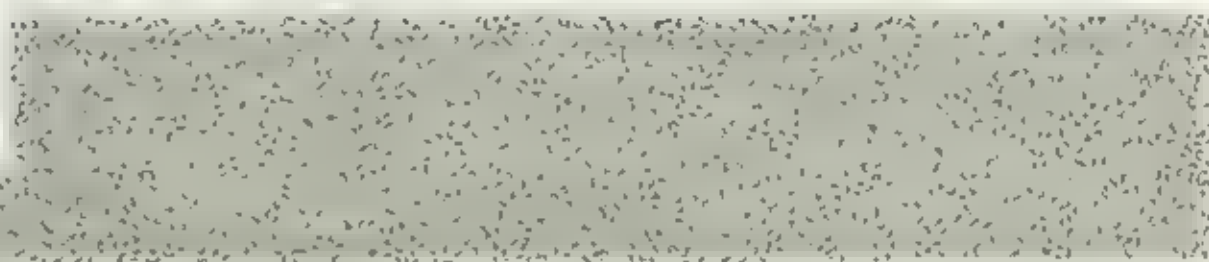

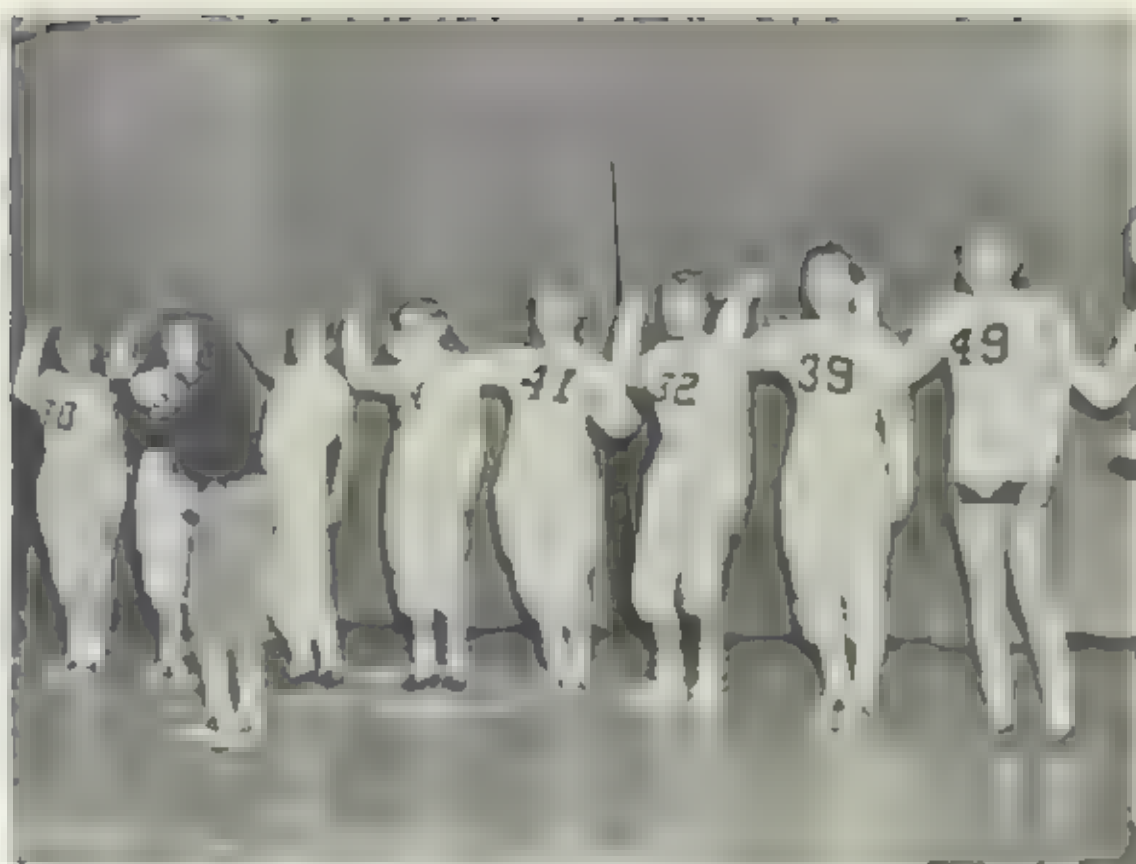

The set of classes met in the holiday season in gala fashion. The All's with the "Winter Whirl" and the Al's with their "Holly Hop"

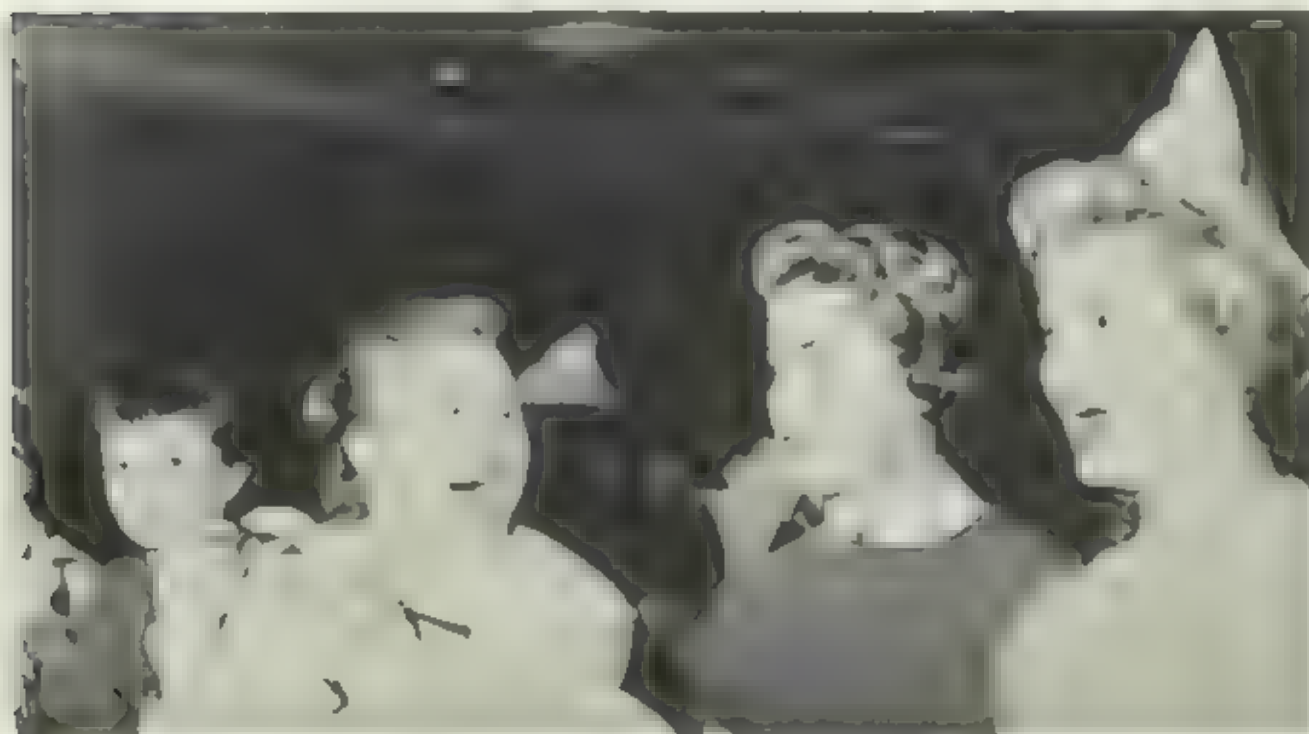

Dick Baily, Miss Helen Wallace, and Sheldon Fisher enthusiastically joined in the new dance craze, the Bunny Hop, at the Senior Square Dance.

Over 400 couples danced to the music of Joe Hruby's band in the Social Room on January 30 at the big event—the Senior Prom.

ALL BOX SUPPER

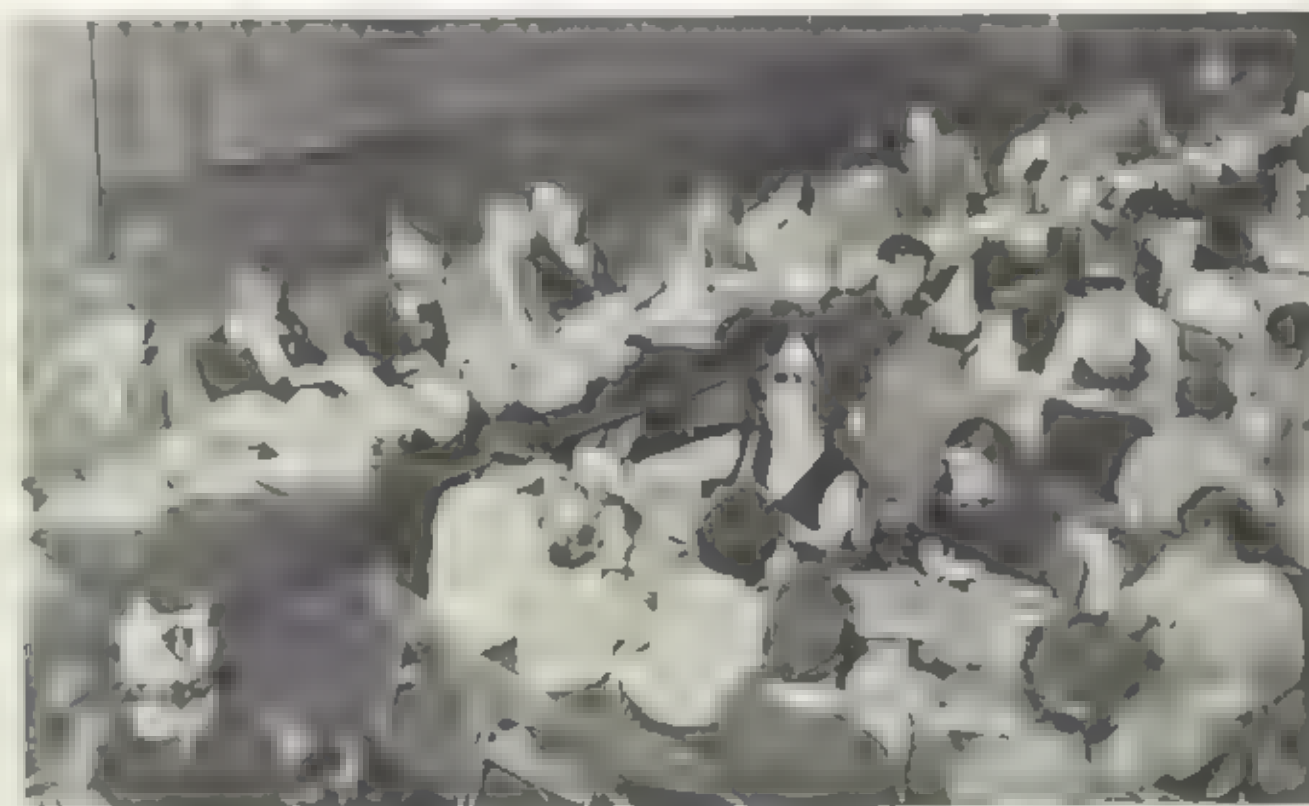

The seniors gathered in the Social Room at five o'clock on February 25 for the annual box supper. With the faculty and officers seated at the front table, the class had a chicken dinner with all the trimmings.

WAS FUN FOR ALL

After dinner entertainment included the choosing of the class song. The winning entry was a song written by Rita Rosenfeld. From then until 8:30, the official closing hour, dancing rounded out a full evening of fun for all.

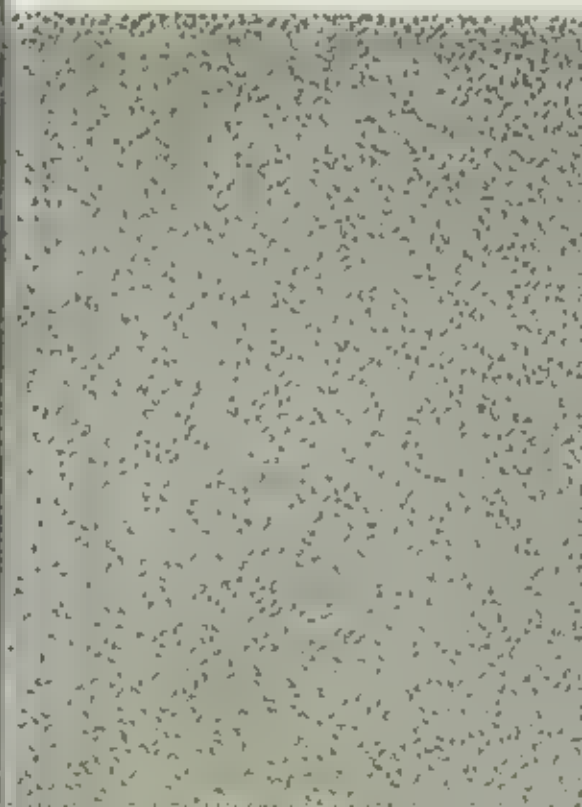

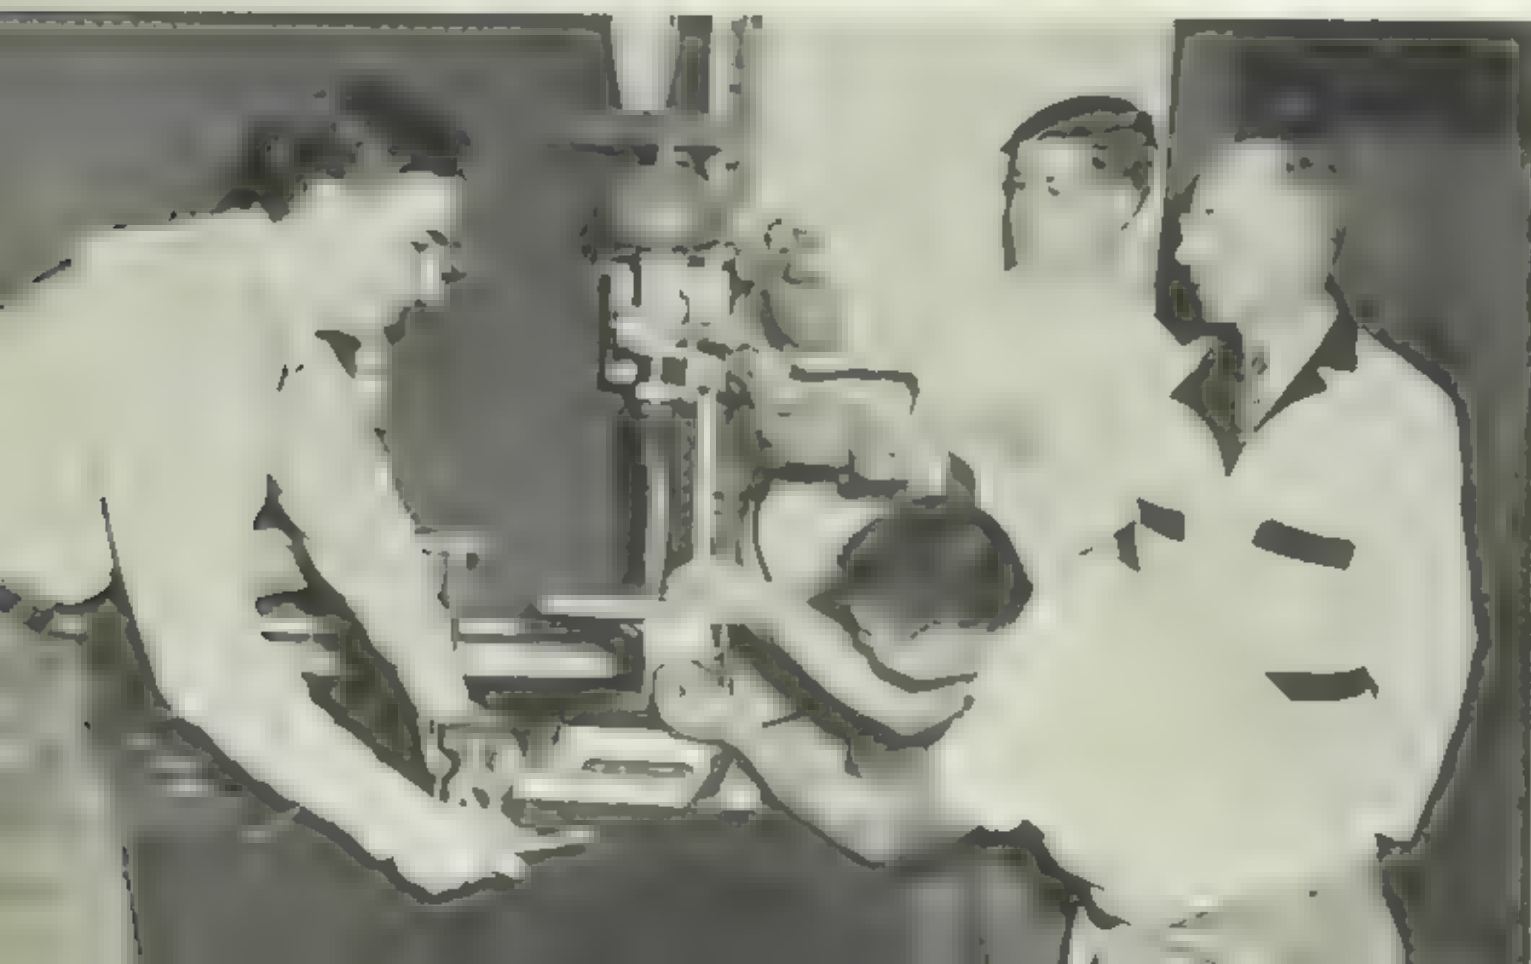

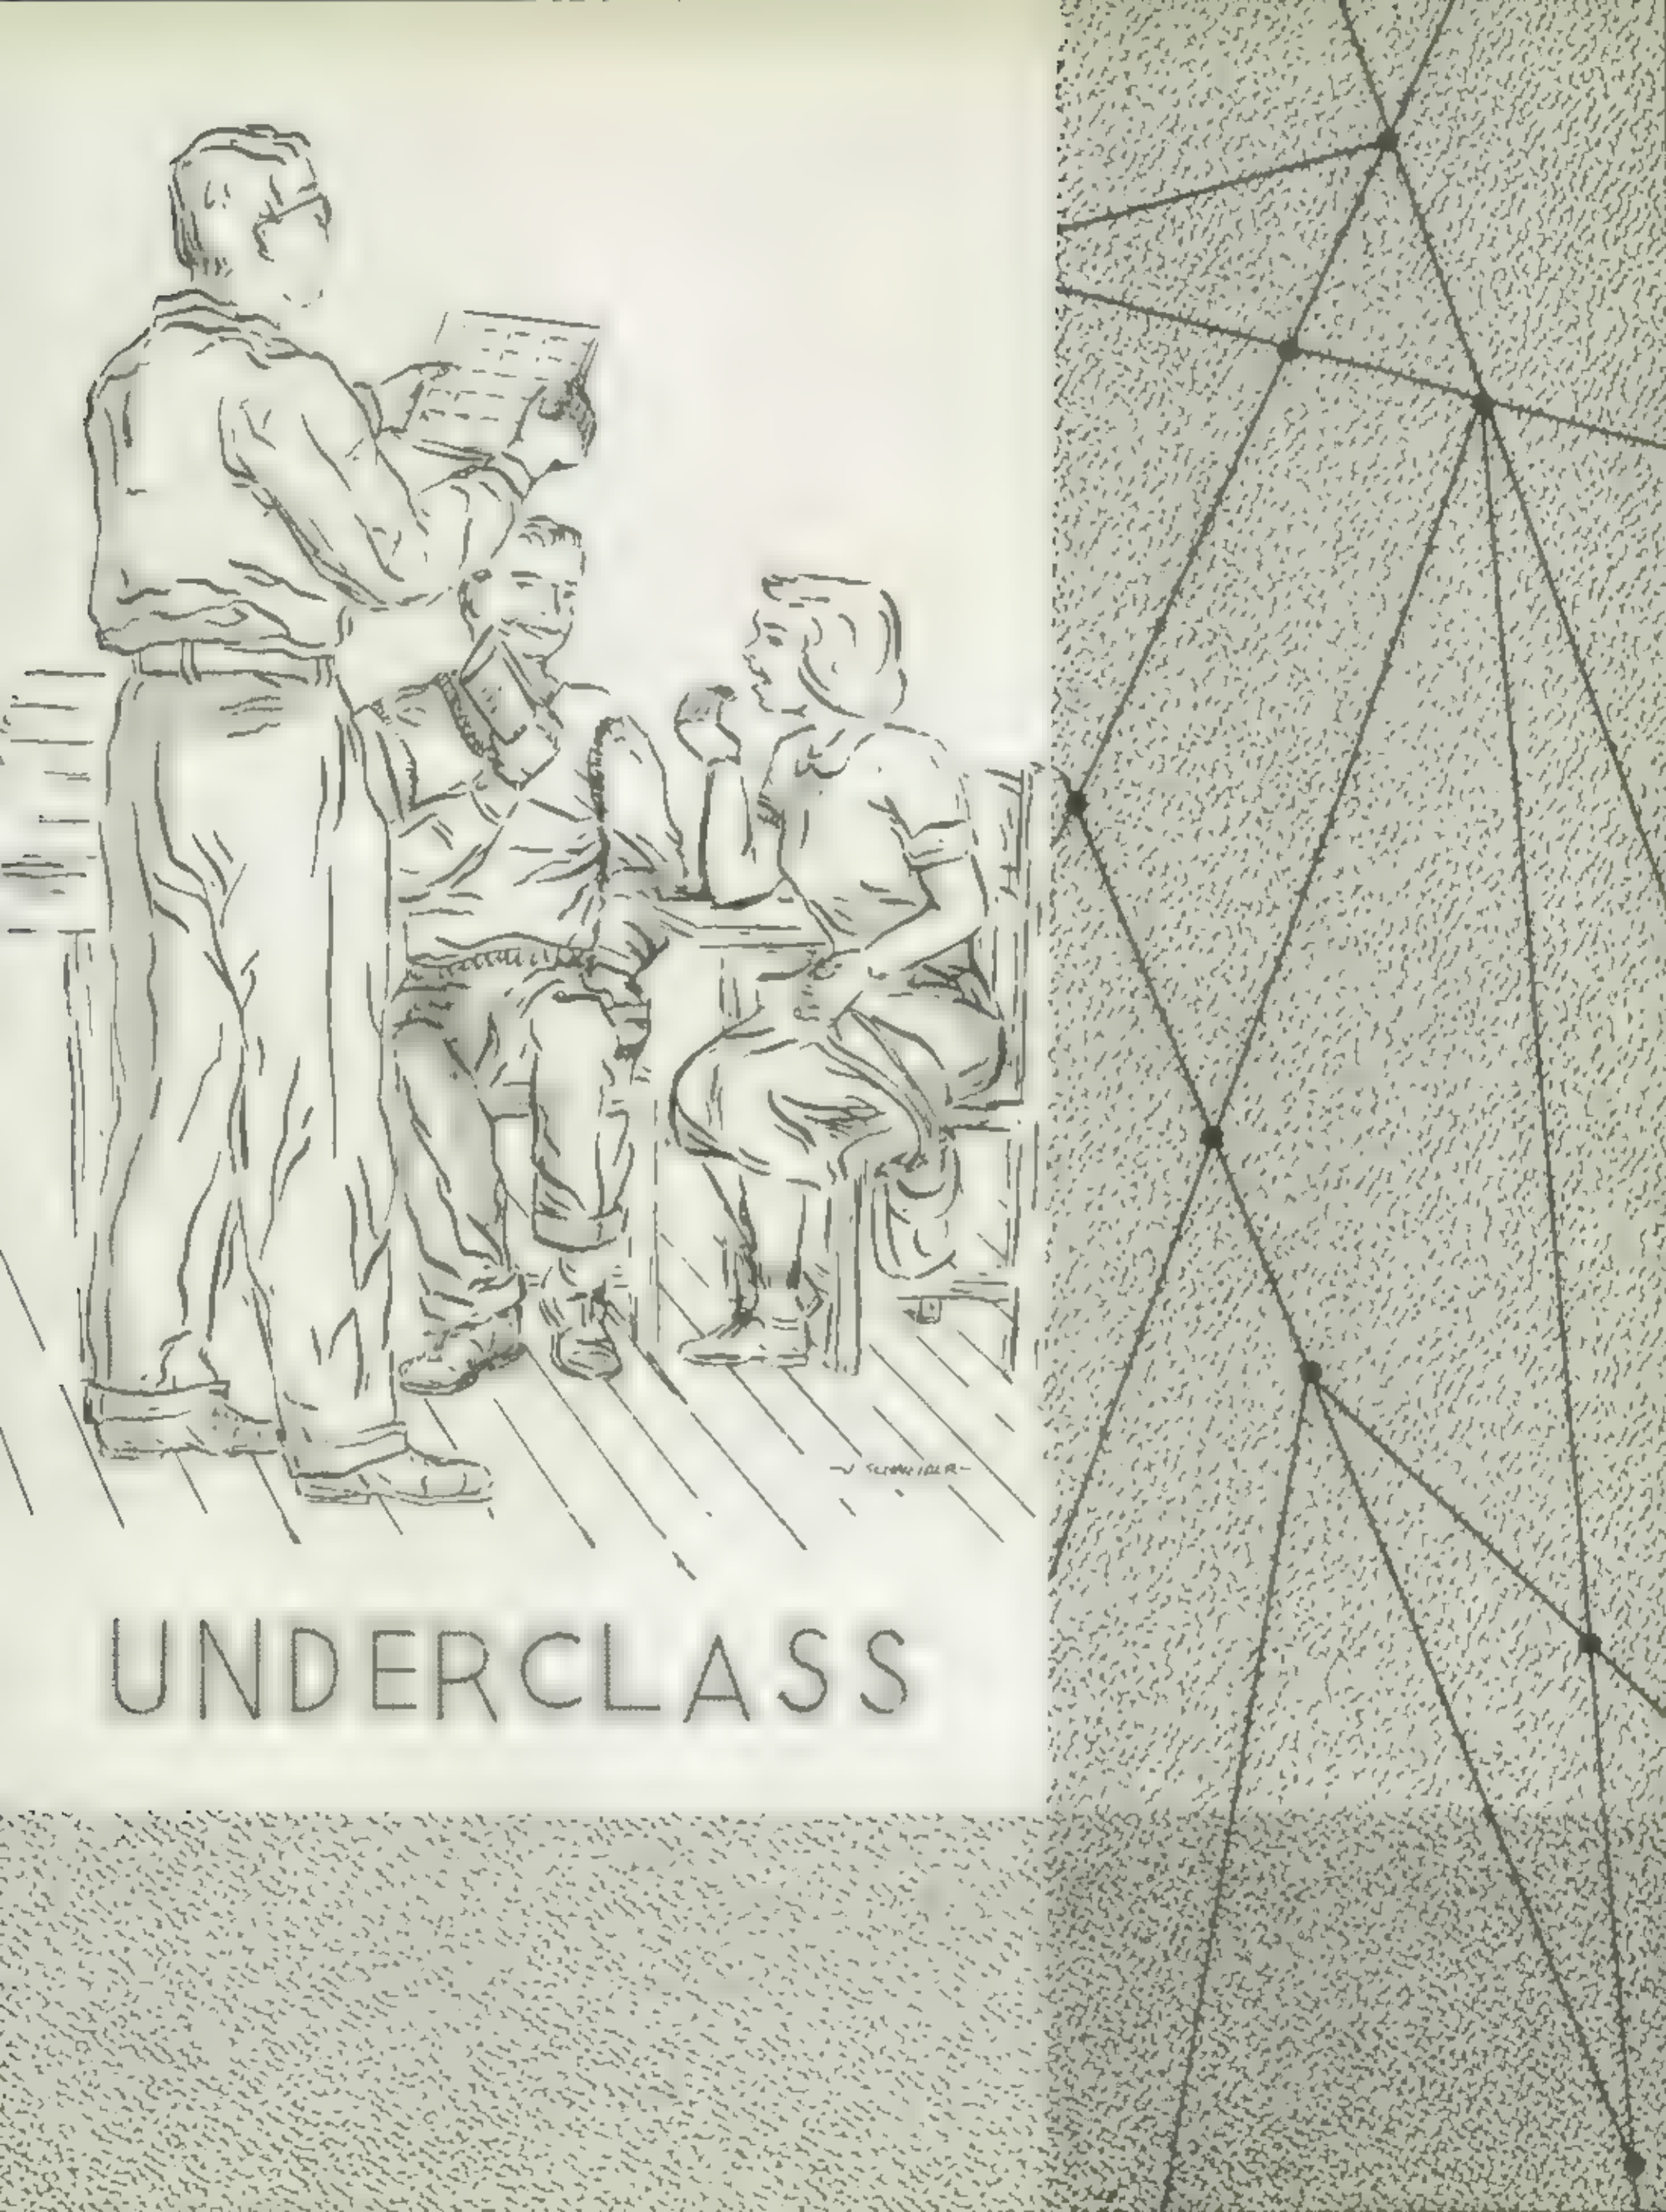

Upper left—In the Ohio State Scholarship Examination Rae Wohl, Judy Hoff, Kitty Glennon, and Dick Gaebler ranked in the top five per cent.

Upper right—The Freedom Foundation Award for the best school newspaper editorial went to Rita Lefko, shown here with Black and Gold adviser, Mrs. Zora Rushkin.

Center—Strix Chix, the quartet of Michele Stewart, Ann Cotton, Katie King, and Becky Resch, performed in several concerts with the choir and dance band.

TIGERS CLIMAX SEASON BY

Besides Gregg and Belkin, several others helped the team roll towards the LEL title. Hurlers Cliff Aikens and Ronny Franks saw a lot of action. Aikens, Pres-Star pitcher, trailed Belkin by striking out 65. Cox followed Gregg in hitting for distance. Lolli pursued Gregg in averages by slamming .353

CRUSHING ELYRIA 7-3, TYING EUCLID FOR LEL LEAD

The Tigers soundly crushed Elyria in the last game of the '53 season, 7 to 3. This victory, paced by Mike Belkin's three-hit pitching, raised the nine into a tie with Euclid for the Lake Erie League lead. The Zweigmen's league record was 6-1; their total record was 11-4.

The campaign saw the first annual "Baseball Day at Heights" take place on May 26 before a home game with John Adams. After a parade three well-known Cleveland Indian personalities gave exhibitions of their specialties—Al Lopez catching, Tris Speaker batting, and Early Wynn pitching.

Tiger standouts were pitcher Mike Belkin with a record of 6-1 and 65 strikeouts and slugger Dan Gregg, who led the hitting department with an average of .385.

INTRAMURALS BUILD HEALTHY BODIES AND ATTITUDES

Competition is keen among homerooms taking part in intramurals. Contests take place in football, swimming, volleyball, basketball, and baseball. Grade level winners in these sports play for the school championship.

Members of the student Officials' Club referee intramural games. Two student managers, Don Jacober and Al Simon, set up schedules.

GIRLS' INTRAMURALS ARE SOURCE OF ENJOYABLE EXERCISE

Betty Jane Vargo, Jeanne Luongo, Mary Del Vecchio represent the many girls who enjoy baseball.

Every girl is eligible to be on a girls' intramural team. All she must do is attend at least three after-school practice sessions.

The teams play field hockey, volleyball, basketball and baseball. The best players are then chosen for the two all-star teams which compete at the end of the season.

Volleyball is one of the most popular intramural games. Here Nancy Hopkins hits one over the net.

Field finds Betty Jane Vargo, Jay Jenkins, Fran Irvine, Arlene Gilman, and Sue Kronheim on the hockey field.

SWIM CLUB AND CADET DUTIES GIVE MERMAIDS CHANCE

Something new was added this year in the Girls' Swim Club—a marathon swim map. The girls, gaining mileage by the number of laps covered, raced for their destination from Cleveland

Sponsors of girls' inter-class and inter-scholastic meets, club members also assist Swim Cadets in producing their annual pageant

Water polo is the most popular game the swimmers play. When they have earned enough points in this for a varsity letter, they are eligible for Yellow Jackets.

Besides having fun, the promotion of swimming as a sport and improvements in strokes and dives are the goals of the club.

When the girls of Heights High don their bathing togs, they can feel reasonably secure in the water, thanks to the efforts of 25 girls, known as the swim cadets.

These cadets, all able swimmers, give up study halls to help Miss Crane supervise the girls' swimming classes and stay after school to guard at splash parties.

Cadetling is not all work and no play, for these skilled swimmers learn lifesaving and play water polo. Following a popular tradition, they write and present a clever and colorful water pageant in the Heights High pool in the spring.

SWIM TEAM JOINS CADETS IN "BARNYARD BALLET"

The crowd gazes as the gang dips in "Ye Olde Swimming Hole"

"Cows in the Pasture" kick their heels in the Swim Cadets' annual water pageant

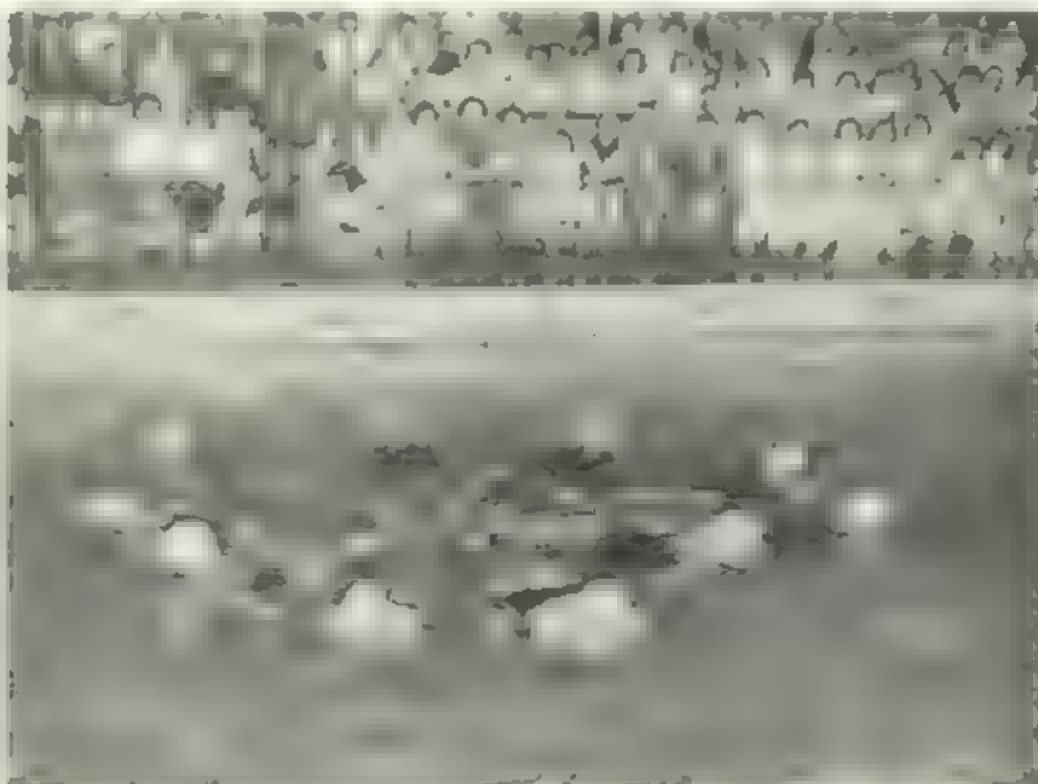

As a rooster crooned a welcome to the rising sun, the Swim Cadets opened the "Barnyard Ballet" with a splash. In the swimming pool on May 14 and 15, 1953, the Cadets, assisted by the Swim Team, presented a watery version of farm life. Finding the show extremely popular, late comers had little room either to sit or stand.

In a lazy drawl, two mice introduced each part of the farm routine. The versatile cadets appeared as colts, dogs, and cows in original swim choreography. With a cast of 18, a square dance brought to a close "A Day on the Farm."

As it must to all teams, a bad season finally caught up with Mr. Ralph Williams' swimming squad in the '53-'54 campaign. However, the final record of two wins and eleven losses did not tell the whole story.

Jon Martin, one of the best free stylers in the L.E.L., was elected captain. On his graduation in January, Mark Saginor and Al Schneiderman were elected by the team. Senior letter winners were Saginor, Schneiderman, Martin, John Day and Al Smolin. The mermen were strongest in diving, with Smolin and Bob Weber winning many points in competition. The performance of juniors Weber, Ronnie Yulish, Mark Palmquist, George Huggins and Walter Loch is a substantial basis for hopes of a championship team next year.

Spirit and determination dominated this year's varsity basketball play. Facing many formidable opponents, the "Vanmen" displayed occasional brilliance but did not quite live up to the record of previous years. Led by Captain Jack Cox, a January grad, the cagers opened the season against Lutheran and were upset by this strong outfit. However, Heights was able to pull out some important wins over arch-rival Shaker and highly-rated Cuyahoga Falls.

Having lost Bill Ong and Cox at mid-term, Coach Vannorsdal used Dick Greenspan and Don Olshansky in their places. The other starters were Bernard Tolin and Lou Cangelosi—two mainstays of last year's squad—plus Carl Prohaska, who surprised everyone with his outstanding and steadily improving play.

Coach Ed Moderick's Cubs made a vast improvement this season over last year's record. Displaying good height and speed, the sophs showed that they will be much in the running for the LEL title, when they are on the varsity. Leading the way towards a successful season were high scorers Bob Sibbison, Vernon Kallus, Dick Emch and Jim Grant.

CHEERLEADERS

Cheerleaders get their basic training on the Junior Varsity, which works all sophomore games. After one semester in JV, they are eligible to try out for the Varsity.

Varsity cheerleaders not only help spectators enjoy school sports by participating vicariously but also plan and put on pep rallies before games.

YELLOW JACKETS

Most girls joining GAA set their sights on becoming members of Yellow Jackets, an honorary athletic club for feminine letter winners. Their calendar includes overnights and picnics, as well as services such as removing trays from the faculty lunch room.

Concluding the season with a second place showing by the Krasny-Farr duo in the District Meet, our netters tallied a 3-3 '53 spring record. In the fall the team, led by City Junior Champion Monroe Newborn, posted a 4-1 mark, sharing the Lake Erie League title with Lakewood.

What makes a good track team? Talent, self-discipline, and earnestness are the qualities that pay off for the speedsters.

The cindermen finished the year with a record of two wins and two losses in dual meets. They toppled Collinwood and Shaw, while suffering setbacks from John Adams and Euclid. Tupta's thinclads also ranked second in the standings at the Hilltop Meet and placed twelfth in the state.

"I was very pleased with the improvement shown by many sophomores and juniors who will be returning next year," commented Tiger Coach Richard Tupta. "We are looking forward hopefully to the next season."

OGILVIE LEADS GOLFERS; BONACHER SPARKS HARRIERS

After losing the season's opener to Orange, the golfers defeated Shaw and Brush twice and Euclid once. Strong play by captain Buzz Lewis and Dave Ogilvie contributed greatly to their 5-5 record and third place LEL showing. Ogilvie placed in the top half in the past season State Meet at Columbus.

The cross-country squad had a record of 2 and 1 in triangular meets. Engle's men placed fourth in the LEL and eighth in the District.

Best harrier since '49, was Coach Alvin Engle's appraisal of Bob Bonacher, the team's high scorer. Bob qualified for the state meet by placing fourth in district competition.

Boys and coaches congratulate each other after defeating Solonwood

Unsung heroes, probably the hardest workers on the team, are the linemen. Recognition is justly deserved but not often given to these boys.

The sophs came through with a successful season, winning seven and losing one. A powerful Lakewood team defeated them for the first time in seven years, 25-13.

As Roger Ross is taken out of play, Hutchison and Zuckerman close in.

Cangelosi drives for a touchdown. Cox and Johnston block.

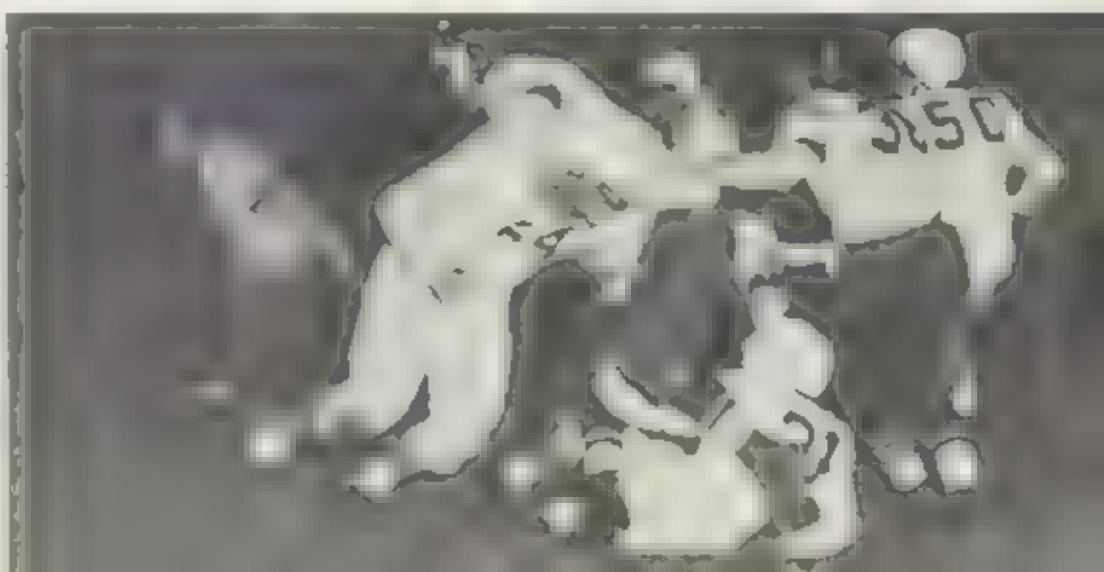

"We had a good season, and I feel that they can't take away the games and the fun we had winning them." These were the words of Coach George McKinnon, after learning that all Heights' games had been forfeited because of discrepancies in Roger Ross' school attendance record.

The McKinnonmen had an outstanding season, tying for the LEL title with Lakewood. This was the first time since '45 that the gridgers had done so well.

Reasons for the Tigers' comeback were a strong running attack paced by Olshansky, Ross, Vitale, and Cangelosi, expert quarterbacking by Hutner, and a stalwart line.

Gene Zuckerman, Bob Holstein, and Larry Hutner carry out blocking assignments.

GLEE CLUB GAINS EXPERIENCE BY PUBLIC PERFORMANCES

Christmas week was a busy one for the Girls' Glee Club. After their annual dinner at Crosby's on December 20, they gave a recital there. That same day they sang on a special Christmas broadcast over radio station WHK. The girls performed for assemblies at Monticello, Roosevelt, and Roxboro Junior High Schools and also for a P.T.A. meeting here at Heights.

Girls' Glee Club is an accredited part of the music curriculum. The members meet daily fourth period, under the direction of Mr. Harold E. Borbee. Membership, kept around 80, is determined by tryouts from the choruses.

MALE CHORUS SINGS IN HALF-TIME SHOWS AT GRID GAMES

Boys with a common interest in singing make up the Boys' Glee Club. The club is open to all male students with good singing voices and the desire to appear in public performances. Rehearsals seventh period daily under the direction of Mr. Harold Barbee prepared the boys to carry out the busy program scheduled for them—singing on radio broadcasts and at football games, performances at other high schools, and a Stunt Night songfest. The 1953-54 school year was climaxed by the annual spring concert.

ORCHESTRA ENTERTAINS AT NATIONAL

For many years the orchestra has been one of the most active organizations in the school. Highlighting the numerous functions of the group this year was a trip to Chicago in March to play at the opening session of the National Music Educators' Convention at the Conrad Hilton Hotel. Another honor given to this group was that of premiering Phil Rizzo's arrangement of the popular hit tune, "Ebb-Tide," at the fall Pop Concert. During the year the orchestra performed in assemblies at Roxboro, Monticello, and Roosevelt Junior High Schools.

The orchestra also performed in the joint Fall, Spring and Thank You Concerts with the band. In May was the annual Choir-Orchestra concert. The group also participated in the Lake Erie League Orchestra Festival.

The instrumental music department as a whole won national recognition this year from "The First Chair of America," an organization which annually publishes a book honoring the outstanding high school bands and orchestras throughout the country. This recognition entitled the band and orchestra to have in the book individual photos of all first chair players, along with group pictures and copy about the organizations.

STUDENT PROBLEMS AT HEIGHTS PROVIDE CENTRAL

B2's, winners of the second place prize, satirize the past 50 years of Heights athletics

Four B2's represent the Board of Education when Heights moved to Cedar Lee

Third place-winning A1 devils vainly try to tempt Heights students to cheat in classrooms

Weeks of hard work by hundreds of Heights Students culminated in the production of Stunt Night on March 6 and 7, 1953.

Mr. Morley's 29 years at Heights provided the background for the CII skit. In "Jail-break" or "The Leaky Pen," the BI's showed how three escaped prisoners came to Heights and turned into model students.

THEME FOR SECOND SUCCESSFUL ALL-SCHOOL STUNT NIGHT

The first 50 years of Heights was the theme of the BII skit. The AI's dramatized the problem of cheating in school in "It's Nice, But It's Vice." "The Birth of Stunt Night," the cup-winning skit for the All class, showed how Stunt Night was born from the ruin of social clubs.

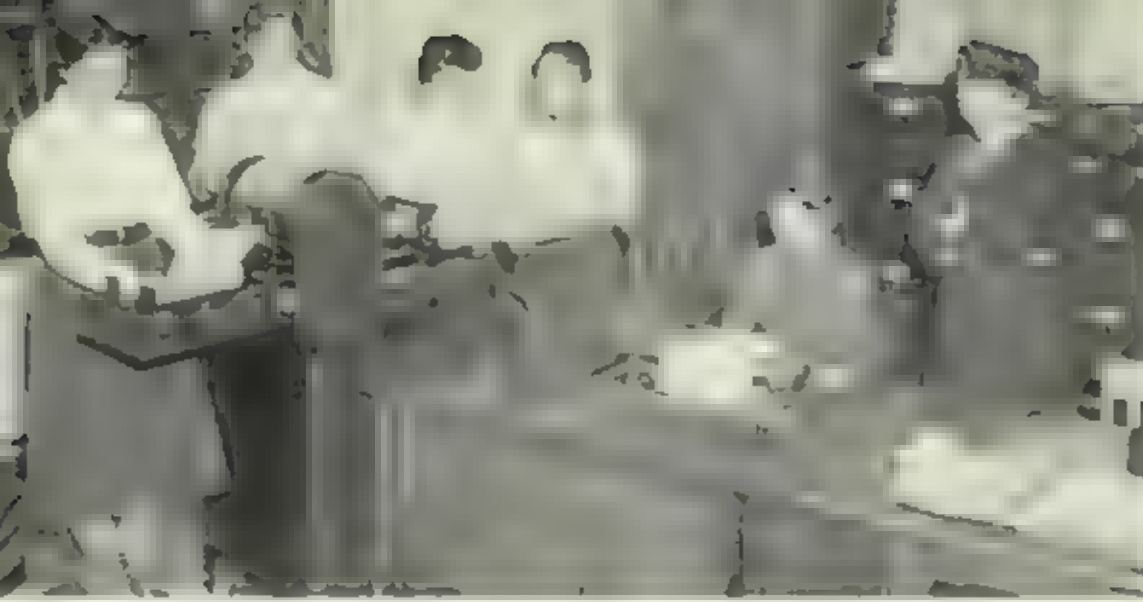

Graduates of June, 1953, in their prize-winning skit, weigh the pros and cons of Stunt Night

In the BII skit three escaped prisoners are reformed by Heights girls and become school leaders

STUDENT COUNCIL, AN INSTRUMENT OF STUDENT OPINION,

Row 1—Rochelle Duber, Jeanie Luongo, Susannah Rosenthal, Reva Bialosky, Gloria Benovitz, Mr. Merritt Clifford
Row 2—Dick Oster, Sue Reimer, Ann Smith, Bonnie Kahn, Sally Carr, Bill Krupman, Row 3—Bob Hontein, Bob Weinberg, Allan Lerner, Bob Kilzer, Row 4—Jerry Wedren, Ronald Glazer, John Hancock

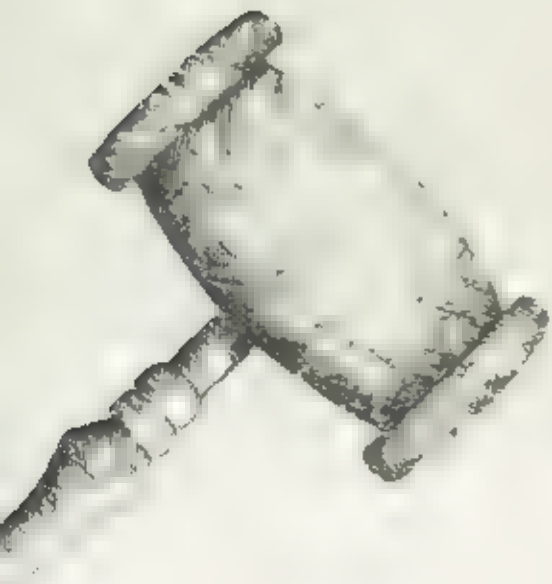

The Student Council gives pupils a chance to practice the ideas of democratic government which they have learned in school. Applying these principles of democracy enables the students, along with the faculty adviser, Mr. Merritt Clifford, to help promote the general welfare of the school.

Homeroom presidents, class officers, and the presidents of major school activities represent the student body in the Council. Meeting every two weeks in the Social Room, the Council has been instrumental in encouraging more social events throughout the school year. The Student Council itself sponsors the All School Party and Stunt Night. The student organization plays a large part in the efficient functioning of the school.

The Bunny Hop, one of the social functions sponsored by the Student Council, provided much entertainment for all who attended. With the usual fine turnout to a Heights High social event the feature of the evening was the dancing of the Bunny Hop, shown here.

ILLUSTRATES DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT IN ACTION

ATHLETIC SERVICE CLUB

Sue Reimer, Carol Schoenberger, Marilyn Feiner, Ruth Strauss, and Reva Bialosky are shown selling tickets for an athletic event. This is one of the major duties of the Athletic Service Club.

SERVICE GROUPS HELP TO PROMOTE SCHOOL EVENTS

MANAGERS CLUB

Managers Club serves the school by ushering at non-athletic events, such as performances by Players or the Choir. Mr. James Price, Managers' adviser, is pictured here with Joan Schachter, Barbara Schmidt, and Marylen Segel, members of the club

BOOSTERS CLUB

Boosters Club, an organization promoting interest in school athletics, staged pep assemblies and promoted the bus trips to the Warren and Ashtabula football games this year. Boosters can take some credit for the enthusiasm these fans reveal in the picture.

AND MAINTAIN PLEASANT SCHOOL ATMOSPHERE

CORRIDOR GUARDS

By maintaining order, Corridor Guards create a pleasant school atmosphere. Here Bob Holstein, head guard, shows guards Shelly Fisher and Malcolm Perlich the new hall pass.

MAJOR PRODUCTIONS AND WEEKLY STUDIO

Judy Bala, Barbara Steinberg, Linda Esler, and Joan Francis prepare costumes for a major production.

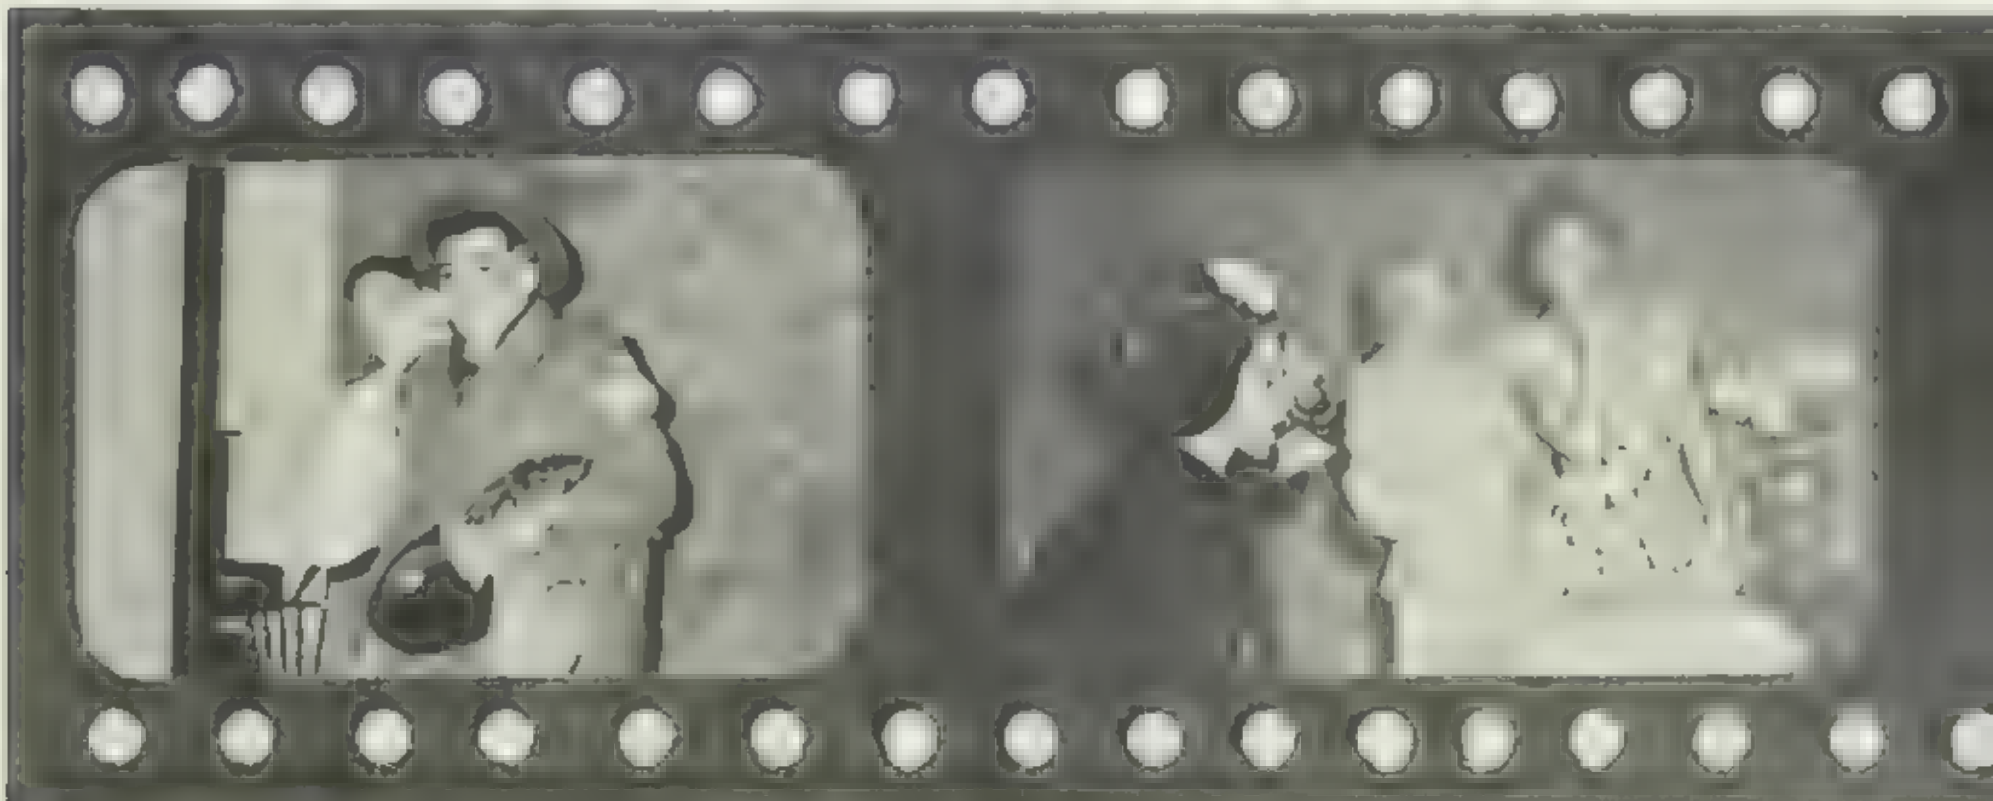

Prop crewman Allen Zak and Dan Bergman and stage crewmen Larry Gorup and John Belamy team up on Harvey, Mary Chase's popular comedy.

Heights Players work to develop skills in theater arts. They present a major production every semester in the Social Room.

Elwood P. Dowd (Harry Stern) confuses even case-hardened in terne (Jeff Hecht) at Chumley's Rest Sanitarium.

Harvey has not yet made his appearance to the consternation of Mrs. Simmons (Arlene Bennett), Myrtle Main Simmons (Debby Stashower) and Mrs. Charvener (Alice Koval).

PLAYS TRAIN PLAYERS IN THEATER TECHNIQUES

Dr. Sanderson (Paul Steier), the resident psychiatrist, mistakes Mrs. Simmons (Arlene Bennett) for a mentally ill patient.

Mrs. Simmons (Arlene Bennett) tells her horrible experience to Judge Gaffney (Wallis Wood) and her daughter (Debby Stashower).

Players also give studio productions, directed, acted, and sometimes written by members every week in the Little Theater. Every semester outstanding players are elected to membership in the National Thespian Society.

Published bi-monthly by journalism II classes, the Black and Gold has earned such honors as All-American from N.S.P.A. and the International Honor Award from Quill and Scroll. Besides winning many awards for news content, it has received award after award for the editorial page, a popular forum for student opinion. The Black and Gold is one of the few school newspapers in the entire country which is completely self-supporting.

To be eligible for the staff, students must have completed journalism I and have the recommendation of Mrs. Melvin Rashkis, the adviser.

The Crest, a literary magazine founded in December, 1938, and published once a semester since that date, is written and edited completely by students. Original short stories, articles, and poetry are submitted by the students to the literary staff, which selects and edits the material to be published, and plans the lay-out. The art staff designs cover pages, the lining, the headings, the initial letters, and the illustrations. The close collaboration of both staffs results in a magazine that has consistently appeared among the first-place winners in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association national contest.

High school yearbooks were originally published by the graduating seniors of a high school and were of interest only to them. Here at Heights the Caldron is an all-school project. All activities are represented so that the yearbook interests the underclasses as well as the graduating seniors.

Boys' and girls' homeroom representatives collect the students' money for the Caldron and help to promote the

FRIENDSHIP CLUB PROJECTS STRESS THE FEELING

Friendship Club's executive board busies itself planning the combined and service meetings, which include all grades. During these monthly service meetings, the girls made tray favors for several hospitals.

The Christmas project proved the most interesting. Each participating grade made a different tray favor for the Cleveland Rehabilitation Center. Ann Smith, Kitty Glennan, and Lynn Lamont took the favors to the center and stayed to serve dinner.

The most unusual program in Junior Friendship this year was a "This Is Your Life" presentation. Mrs. Zeta Winslow, adviser of the Friendship Executive Board, was completely surprised to find herself the subject.

A party held in January gave the girls a chance to know each other better.

Other meetings this year varied from inspirational programs to the latest news from the world of fashion.

OF SATISFACTION GAINED BY HELPING OTHERS

"Treasure Chest," "Pot Pourri," "Abroad with the A Capella," and "All These Things Are Mine" appeared on the Senior Friendship calendar of events for 1953-54.

"All These Things Are Mine," a Thanksgiving program, proved to be the most popular with the girls. A panel of Heights' students of foreign origins contrasted life in America with that in their native countries—Germany, Austria and Africa.

Guest speakers, as well as school talent, made up the other programs.

Service projects for Friendship girls included the filling of baskets for needy people at Thanksgiving time.

Row 1—Connie Polan, Amy Bennett Row 2—Judy Foth, Sharon Perelman, Sheila Lurie, Ann Bejeckian. Row 3—Lynda Pick, Ann Baerwald, Mrs. Duffy, Sue Cooperman

Programs at the regular monthly meetings of the Sophomore Friendship range from pure entertainment, such as movies, to the discussion of serious teen-age problems by Miss Beatrice Lynch of the Family Health Service.

Among the programs that were popular was the delightful skit of the Yuletide story, "Twas the Night before Christmas," performed by the executive board at the annual Christmas meeting and holiday party.

We can look back at another good year at Heights a year of learning, working, and playing. As we look back, we can see that this year helped lay the foundation for the rest of our lives and helped give us the skills and understanding fundamental to our future
